

Prenatal Development Crossword

Down:

1. Retained and forms epididymis and ductus deferens in males (Other name: Wolffian ducts)
5. Forms the Reproductive system during embryonic development
8. Secrete Testosterone & Dehydrotestosterone
9. Pituitary gland that develops from the floor of the brain (Other name: Neurohypophysis)
11. Forms the Endocrine system during embryonic development
14. Pituitary gland that develops from the roof of the mouth (Other name: Adenohypophysis)

Across:

2. Stimulates male reproductive system to develop
3. Ability to form a limited range of cells and tissues appropriate to their location
4. Retained and forms oviducts, uterus, cervix, and portions of cranial vagina (Other name: Mullarian ducts)
6. Ability to form several types of all three germ layers but not the whole organism
7. Secrete Anti-Mullarian hormone
10. Ability to form all cell types of the conceptus
12. Forms the nervous system during embryonic development
13. Hormone that causes the degeneration of Mullarian ducts